DEVOTION - Words Matter

submitted by Sarah Dawdy

Have you ever thought something kind about someone, but instead of sharing it you decided not to say anything and kept it to yourself? Maybe you ran into an old friend while shopping and you thought they looked really great but thought it would be awkward to say anything not realizing that she was feeling less than confident that day and your kind words would have made her heart soar. I am a firm believer that if a compliment pops into your head with someone, it needs to pop out of your mouth! You have no idea how much your words can help someone on any given day! If your thinking "you have a beautiful smile" or "you are such a great addition to this group", I believe those words are put on your heart for a reason! Perhaps God is using you to help others see themselves the way He sees them! Simply telling another person that they are doing a great job can be such a gift to a friend or even a stranger! Don't keep those blessings to yourself, pour them out freely and generously! It might just be God speaking through you to lift up another one of His children who HE really needs to touch!

1 Thessalonians 5:11. "Encourage each other and build each other up." Amen!
