Devotion - The Infinite Fatherliness of God Lesson 6

submitted by: Karen Kettleson

"Or what man is there among you who, if his son asks for bread, will give him a stone? ... If you then, being evil, know how to give good gifts to your children, how much more will your Father who is in heaven give good things to those who ask Him!" - Matthew 7:9-11 NKJV

In these words, Our Lord proceeds further to confirm what He had said of the certainty of an answer to prayer in lesson five.

We are all children and know what we expect of our fathers. We can see that the most natural thing is for a loving father to hear his child. Jesus would have us see, that as much greater is God than sinful man, so much greater our assurance ought to be that He will more surely than any earthly father grant our childlike petitions.

However, the Lord would remind us that the child's prayer owes its influence entirely to the relationship that he has with his father. The child, who, by choice, forsakes the father's house, finds no pleasure in his father's presence and love, and finds no pleasure in obedience to his father, but still expects to obtain what he asks, will surely be disappointed.

And so the lesson we have today in the school of prayer is this: Live as a child of God, then you will be able to pray as a child, and will most assuredly be.
