Devotion - "He is not here; for He has risen" —Matthew 28:6

submitted by: Sarah Dawdy

Only a week had passed since Jesus's triumphant entrance into Jerusalem—but on the morning Jesus was crucified and laid in the borrowed tomb, there were no cheering crowds, no waving branches. Just a few silent women setting out in the gray dawn to perform the last sad rites at the tomb. The day that changed human history was not a public occasion but a private one. The day when eternal life was secured through the resurrection of Jesus Christ began not with celebration but with tears.

Mary Magdalene could not believe what her eyes were telling her; she thought Jesus to be a gardener at work early among the graves. Preoccupied with her loss, she barely glanced at the figure standing before her on the path. She had a mournful task to fulfill but she heard her name called out.

"Mary." In the first light of dawn, Mary stood still. The voice that called out was the voice of a loving involvement. It was the voice of Jesus that called her by name! The women who were the first at the empty tomb and they met the Living Jesus! The Christian Faith was born anew that Easter morning! The women were directed by the Savior to tell the good news to all those who grieved. Dropping their spices and ointments, the heavy burdens of their sad errand, and they rushed to tell everyone! As it was with Mary Magdalene, Jesus also calls to us so personally; He comes into our lives so individually. He calls us to tell the good news of His resurrection to everyone! When Easter is in our lives, it is everyone's role to share this news. When we least expect it, when all seems lost remember the "stone was rolled away!"

Return of the King Chapters 10-11

There's some bizarre events happening in these chapters. Are they literal? Figurative? What exactly do they mean? Though I'm not telling people what I think regarding them, we'll look at the possible meanings and what to make of this for us today.
